The wheels of preparation for the coming muster are in motion, and by June 30, Get. Sprague will have everything in readiness. The tents are to be pinhed in front of the cock houses on precisely the same ground and in the same form as at the last endampment, and be prepared for occupatory upon the arrival of the trops. The Admiant General has under consideration the listing of an order giving the grounds the permanent name of "Gamp Keys." There are to be two regiments bands, the Lawiston Brigade Band serving for the Second Regiment and the Biddeford for the First. The men will not loss but half a day from duty on the muster ground by the trip to Portland, as they will now break camp by Friday morning, while otherwise they would leave on Triday attentions.
